LETTER

From the Editors

Hey Masco!

We really hope you're happy with this yearbook. The new style, size, and design of this year's book sets it apart from all prior. With full color and a larger page size, we have better documented memories from this eventful year. From the front cover to the very last page, this book is truly a breakthrough.

Our magazine-style design adds a new, more professional dynamic to the composition. This year, we've incorporated cultural aspects of Masconomet with hopes that, looking back on this book, you might better remember what it was like living in 2008-2009.

Whether you're at the beginning of your high school experience or it's coming to a close, we hope you can relate to and enjoy this book. From the entire yearbook staff, we would like to congratulate the Class of 2009 and wish them the best of luck as they conclude this chapter of their life. Though they're leaving behind Masconomet, we hope that this year's book makes it possible to forever hold the memories of their past.

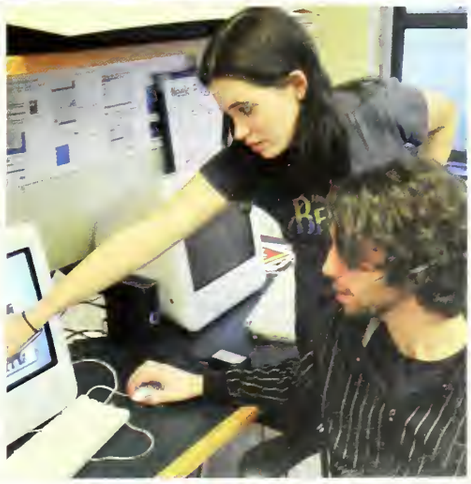
All year long the yearbook class of '08-'09 has been devoting their time and energy to the creation of this 268 page book. We hope that all of our hard work and commitment is evident to you as you flip through the pages. As both a class and a club, we have worked together to make the best book possible. We wanted to accurately depict the events of this school year so that each and every student could relate to the book. It is our greatest hope that you enjoy your journey through this book, now and years to come.

Congratulations to the Class of 2009, remember that this book was designed with you in mind.



YEARBOOK STAFF

Anatomy of

North Face Backpack

A must for all those students who hike home after school.

Spirit Day Ribbon

Masco girls are rarely seen without spirit day ribbons adorning their backpacks... But how many of them actually go to practice?

Dunkin Donuts Coffee

The official beverage of the Masco student body...and the reason why late homeroom is so popular. Hey, don't we have a coffee shop in school?

Designer Jeans

Because we all know the extra 100 dollars looks so much better.

"Hi. What's up? I'm going to lunch, whatever. What are you doing tonight?"

Old Navy Flip Flops

Bought by the truckload, Masco girls can be seen sporting a different color each day of school.

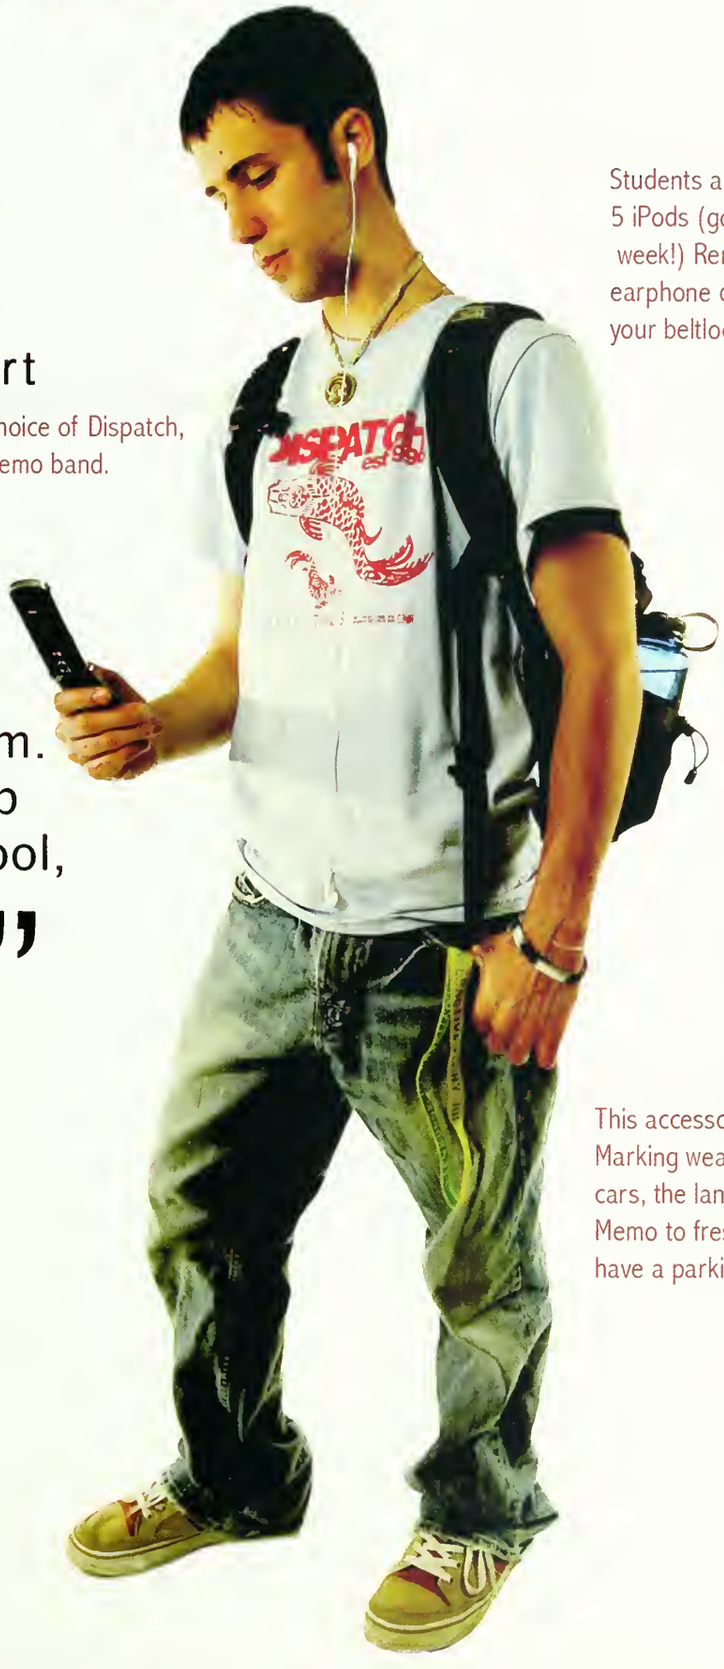
Chieftain



Concert T-Shirt

Masco students sport a choice of Dispatch, State Radio. or a random emo band.

iPod

Students are often see donning one of their 5 iPods (gotta have one for every day of the week!) Remember, you're only cool if one earphone dangles fashionably down to your beltloops.

Nalgene

Every Masco student has their recommended 8 glasses a day thanks the Nalgene's cavernous interior.

Lanyard

This accessory is both functional and stylish. Marking wearers as cool upperclassmen with cars, the lanyard acts as a marker of the cool. Memo to freshmen: It's useful if you actually have a parking pass, not to mention a license...

"Hey. I'm in Chem. I'm gonna hit up THOP after school, wanna come?"

the MASCO Playlist

I have about three minutes to get to class. I shut my locker and attempt to enter the traffic jam of students. It's all but silent in the halls of Masconomet as I walk quickly past by my classmates who are plugged into their iPods, soon to be deafened by their blaring headphones. Since having only one earbud in seems to be the trend, I might as well be sharing a headphone with every person I walk by. The lyrics to "Burnin' Up" by the Jonas Brothers almost shatters my eardrums. It's stuck in my head for only an instant until "Paper Planes" by M.I.A. comes on as I approach the door of my next class. For the next 55 minutes, the eclectic compilation of music is silenced until I reemerge into the music scene of Masconomet once again.

Most Popular Concert T-shirts:

Dispatch
Dave Matthews Band
Incubus

On Friday, March 6th the National Honor Society organized the second annual blood drive, which took place in the Field House. Previously, only students who were seventeen and older could donate blood. Changes were made for this blood drive however, allowing students sixteen and over to contribute. Participation at the spring blood drive was much higher due to this age amendment, and although the fall total was impressive at 60 pints, the spring total far surpassed it. Even though it was hard to schedule time slots for the many students who signed up, the blood drive ran very smoothly. A total of 91 pints of blood were collected in March. This blood benefits the American Red Cross of Massachusetts Bay. Not only does it help people in emergencies, but it also helps people with cancer, blood disorders, sickle cell anemia, and other illnesses. The donation process consists of four steps: registration, health history & mini physical, donation and refreshments. The success of this blood drive can be attributed to several NHS members including Abby Clark, Becky Harding, Sydney Godett and Sarah Dik. These four students spent countless hours organizing the spring blood drive. The NHS Blood Drive truly represents the Masconomet spirit of giving and this year's total of 151 pints of blood collected should make everyone who participated very proud.

Top Ten Reasons To Donate Blood From the American Red Cross

10. You will get free juice and cookies.
9. You will weigh less - one pint less when you leave than when you come in.
8. It's easy and convenient - it only takes about one hour and you can make the donation at Masco!
7. It's something you can spare - most people have enough blood to share, yet there's a constant demand for more.
6. Nobody will ask you to do any heavy lifting as long as you have the bandage on. It's your badge of honor.
5. You will walk a little taller afterwards - you will feel good about yourself.
4. You will be helping ensure that blood is there when you or someone close to you may need it. Most people don't think they'll ever need blood, but many do.
3. It's something you can do on equal footing with the rich and famous - blood is something money can't buy. Only something one person can give to another.
2. You will be someone's hero - in fact you will help save up to three lives with just one pint of blood.

1. It's the right thing to do.

FACULTY

DEDICATION Donald Doliber

Assistant Principal

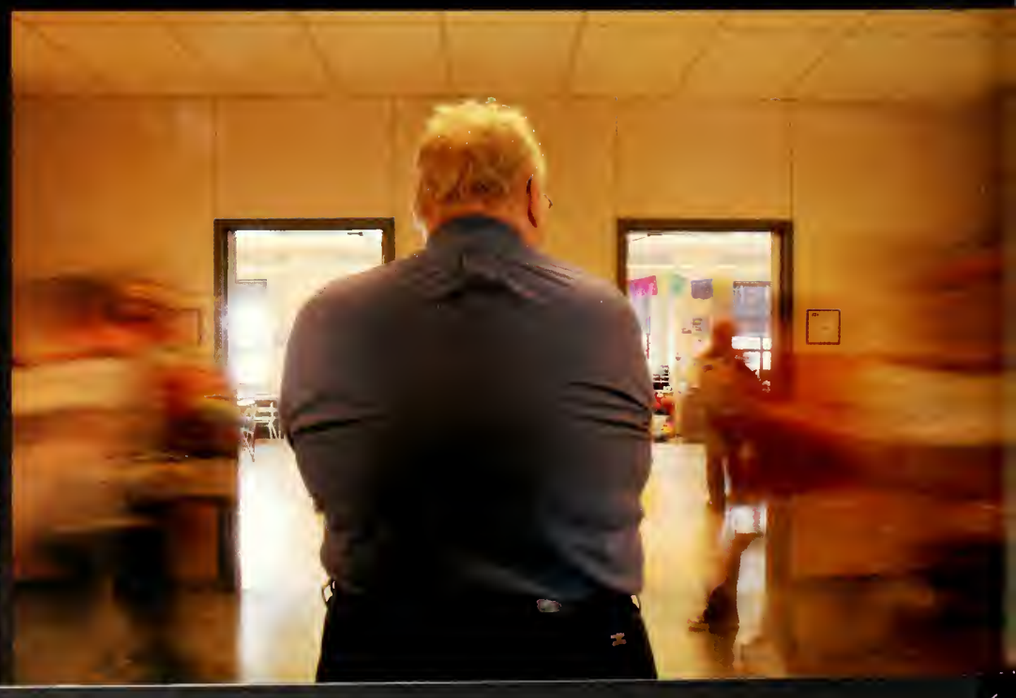
better known as "Dad"

Mr. Doliber first walked through the doors of Masconomet in 1966 as a student teacher. He earned his B.A. in 1967 from Salem State College and a M.A. from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, both in American History. In 1968, he joined the faculty of Masconomet as a history teacher. He often incorporated anecdotes into his teaching, often about his own family, who were the first seafaring settlers of Marblehead in 1629. Mr. Doliber challenged his students to think by questioning their answers and pushing them to formulate intelligent responses. Through this technique, Mr. Doliber helped them to draw connections between history and other disciplines. Each year he required students to take the naturalization exam to check their knowledge of the United States Constitution. Mr. Doliber's depth of historical knowledge is unmatched. In 1983, the Daughters of the American Revolution honored him as the National Outstanding Teacher of American History.

In 1992, Mr. Doliber left the classroom to become the assistant principal of Masconomet. However, this did not prevent him from continuing to teach, as he often made guest appearances in the classrooms of other teachers. He lectured and told stories about Teddy Roosevelt, Salem's witches, and many other historical subjects. To students, listening to Mr. Doliber was always an exciting experience.

As assistant principal, Mr. Doliber possesses the unique ability to build strong, positive relationships with kids. Students both like and respect him. It is difficult for an assistant principal to balance authority and popularity, but he manages it with ease. In 2006, Mr. Doliber was named the Massachusetts Assistant Principal of the Year by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

It is for all of these reasons that Mr. Doliber's career has been so beneficial to the Masconomet community. In honor of all that Mr. Doliber has done, and in appreciation of the forty-three years he has unselfishly dedicated to Masconomet, the Class of 2009 dedicates their senior yearbook to Mr. Donald "DAD" Doliber.



Retirees

Claire Sheff Kohn

In June, Claire Sheff Kohn will complete her 38th year in education. Her professional career has advanced to the important job of superintendent, after she worked as an English teacher, a humanities teacher, a high school guidance counselor, a high school principal, and an assistant superintendent. She had worked in three other school districts before starting at Masconomet in 2004. One of her favorite things to do is serve as a mentor for the senior internship program because it's "a lot of fun." She also enjoys the fundraising events with the teachers like bowling and miniature golf. For five years, Sheff Kohn has overseen all aspects of our school. The improvements that have been made over these years have impacted the lives of many students. New courses such as Architecture, Chinese, Fashion Design, and Web Design have been added, and a new Global Education Initiative has been created. The Ethical Literacy program has been implemented among faculty and students, and many new activities, clubs and exchange opportunities have been created. After she retires, Sheff Kohn will miss many people, including staff, school committee members with whom she has worked closely, and parents of students. She's looking forward to getting more sleep and doing some writing. It is clear that even after she retires, her legacy will continue to positively impact the Masconomet community.

Edward O'Bara

Edward O'Bara became an official Masconomet faculty member in 1975. He has seen Masconomet progress over the decades while collecting fond memories. Looking back on his career at Masco, O'Bara says, "I remember when designer jeans first came out in the 1980s, and all the kids were wearing them to class, but my best memories are of students, as mature adults, reminiscing on their experiences in both Project Adventure and physical education classes." Though he says he will miss physical education and the students and faculty of Masconomet, O'Bara is looking forward to the leisure and freedom that his retirement will bring. He has consciously opted against making plans for his retirement because of the rigid schedule that he has had to adhere to as a teacher. O'Bara has made great contributions to our school, particularly in the design and implementation of the Project Adventure program, and he will be greatly missed by the entire Masconomet community.

Senior Class Advisors

Michael Novello

Julie DeMatteis

The advisors of the Class of 2009 play a pivotal role in the success of class events and fundraisers while working closely with the class officers. Senior year is especially important for the class advisors, who become so busy that their families complain about their lack of time spent at home. Thanks to Mr. Novello and Ms. DeMatteis, Frolics ran smoothly and we will be enjoying a beautiful senior prom in scenic Boston harbor. We have much to look forward to during Senior Week, one of the most memorable times of our high school career. Ms. DeMatteis remarked that "while it is incredible for us to remember the good times, it is inspiring for us to sit back and watch each member of the class create their own memories." For all their dedication and hard work, we express our gratitude to the the Class Advisors of 2009, and attribute the many happy memories we have of high school to them. Thank you Mr. Novello and Ms. DeMatteis!

Senior Class Officers Show Their Gratitude

Dear Mr. Novello and Ms. DeMatteis,

Thank you for all your hard work and dedication to the Class of 2009. Your selfless devotion has made these past four years some of the most memorable of our lives. From freshman-sophomore semi-formal to Frolics, you have always provided a positive outlook and energy to make these events truly enjoyable. Working with you over the past few years has been an amazing experience and one we will always remember.

Love,

The Class Officers of 2009

President
Drew Bunker

"You guys put tireless effort into every event and fundraiser for the Class of 2009 and the time I spent with you was always fun and productive."

Vice President
Michael Pollack-Twomey

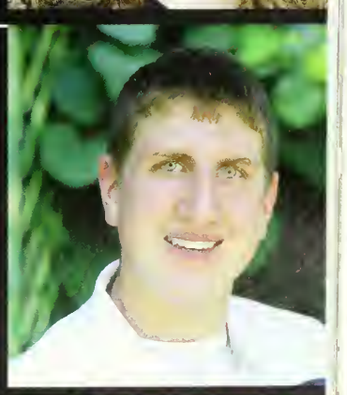
"If I ever have kids, their names will be Mike and Julie because those are the names of champions."

Secretary
Catharine Savage

"Thank you for all your support and friendship over the past few years. You are amazing people."

Treasurer
Steven McKanas

"I cannot thank you enough for the help and advice you provided to us and the countless hours you surrendered in order to make sure our high school years were the best they could be."



SAB: Student Advisory Board
Michael Tyler

"Thank you for filling my high school experience with great memories and friendships."

Q&A

Chit-chat with the FACULTY

Q. If you could have a freaky Friday moment with another teacher at Masco who would it be with and why?

A. Capetanelis: Myself but from ten minutes ago so I know what's about to happen next.
Quinn: Mr. Love because Physics is Phun!
Yutkins: Mr. Kurtz so that I could spend the day playing with all of the cool scientific equipment he has. Either him, or Ms. Due, so I could open all of the jars of formaldehyde pets she has and play with them on the floor!

Q. What's the weirdest thing that has happened to you while teaching at Masco?

A. Meinelt: A student stabbed me in the butt with a needle tool in Ceramics class by accident.
Pinzone: Getting prank phone calls during class.
Shapiro: My skirt was tucked into my underwear...what a show!

Q. If you could describe the class of 2009 in one word, what would it be?

A. Meinelt: Competitive.
Reyes: Kind, Generous, Fun, Just Lovely - Okay, I couldn't find just ONE word.
Quinn: Buffalo-Chicken.

The yearbook staff asked the faculty of Masconomet to answer a few questions about their school and the graduating senior class of 2009. This is what a few of them came up with...

Q. If the teachers of Masco were to break off from the United States and form their own country, who would be their leader?

A. Smallman: Tom Cobb, yes I know he's in the middle school but he's very, very leader-ish. I would trust him with my new country.
Quinn: Mr. Mitchell because he knows Laura Bush.
Yutkins: Mr. Arabian...Come to think of it, I think he's already done that.

Q. What have been some of the most awkward situations that you have experienced while working at Masco?

A. Capetanelis: This questionnare.
Babbitt: Kids making out in the hallways . . . PDA is not a good thing.
Quinn: Teaching my students about the Clinton-Lewinsky scandal.
Colotti: Calling my former teachers by their first names.

Q. What is one thing that makes you want to come to work every day?

A. Pinzone: A paycheck.
Yutkins: The amazing teachers that inspire me every day, both in my department as well as the rest of the school. I have learned more from them than anything I learned from my teachers when I was in high school. Just kidding! Don't be silly...It's the money.
Colotti: Dental insurance.

Did you know...

1. Mrs. Natale can ride a unicycle.
2. Mr. Fay has attended over 25 Grateful Dead concerts.
3. Mr. Serino applied to be on The Amazing Race 5 times, but never got selected, maybe someday...
4. Señorita Swartz is currently training for a Half Ironman Distance Triathalon.
5. Mr. Yutkins sometimes hands back artwork to students who had his wife, Mrs. Yutkins, for art at Cole Elementary School.
6. Mrs. Shapiro loves to dance and act while teaching.
7. Mr. Quinn has been to 47 U.S. States.
8. Ms. Saitta's sister, who is a graduate of Masco, is the casting director for "Days of Our Lives".
9. Ms. Samaha was once an assistant baseball coach for her son's little league team.
10. Mr. West self-published a children's book about three sixth grade boys who skip school entitled "Hooky" in 2000.

Freshmen Orientation

"Don't Fall just be who you are"

Ending summer one day early may have seemed like a punishment at first, but by the end of the day, the entire Class of 2012 was ready to begin their high school career. Through fun activities like the human knot, relay races, and a barbeque, the freshmen bonded together as a class in ways that are "indescribably awesome," according to senior peer leader Maggie Devlin. The freshman orientation has become a tradition at Masco, and for good reason. As junior Blair Shrewsbury says, "it's an easy, no-pressure event that helps the freshman to begin the transition into high school."

Mom&Dad: thank you for constantly giving me support, and for pushing me to do my best. I don't know what I would do with out you guys. Dad thanks for passing on your super hilarious humor. Love you both so much! Sarah&Hannah: you two are the best sisters I could ask for, be good while I'm at school! Enjoy being young. Take care of Sadie and Lily. Love you girls. Maria: my best friend. we've had too much fun for our own good, best best best times with you. 311, Wankies, listening to our old man music, 114 race tracks, Loon Mountain, Sue and Sephy, our weekend adventures, los animales, SKBsquared. Lex: being little angels, telekinesis, being lost in Lawrence, little bean, 8th grade adventures, joy rides, are we being weird? Emmy: always a good time together, extensive schemes, participating in the Olympics, being blonde, rapping together in the car, junior prom, "I'll drive". Riss: the epic 3 song CD, Paulito, phone calls, sledding at the Winter Wonderland, downtown fun, our weird lunch table conversations. Thank you for all the good times; JR EW JS JF EN RB RC LR MP. ☮

These four years of high school have gone by so fast. College is right around the corner. Great high school soccer careers boys, what a way to cap off senior year: CAL Champs, Division North Champs, Eastern Mass. Champs. It is unbelievable to look back on, 22-1-1. Coach Serino, thank you for all of the support, through JV and Varsity soccer and a mentor in high school life. Mom and Dad, thank you for everything, I could not have asked for anything more, I love you guys. My friends, so many good times at Alex's or Charlies or those Rock Band parties. Playing Poker every weekend and driving all over the tri-town. Good luck everyone! The best class coming through Masco, the Class of 2009.

What a trip it's been. I feel like this whole high school thing only started a second ago, it all went by so fast. I remember not believing the peer leaders when they warned us the first day of freshman year. Thanks to Pazar for being my best friend since second grade. Thank Mom, Dad, Eric, Ryan, and Jon for guiding me through the years. Thanks to everyone else, who has made these four years ones I will never forget - you know who you are! We've had some great times and some even better memories. Good luck in the future!

Mom and Dad – You are the best parents anyone could ask for. You have taught me how to be strong and enjoy life. Mom you have showed me how to be optimistic and look at life positively. Dad you are always strong and someone who always knows the right thing to do.
Jeff – You are an amazing brother. From our heated games of Madden all the way back to our games of baseball with a wooden spoon and a crumpled piece of paper you're always there and always good competition.
Lesley and Rob – Lesley you were always the symbol of what's cool. You were and always will be someone I want to be like when I grow up. Rob you have become my new brother. Whether it was watching the game, playing Fight Night or forcing me to cut my hair you always show me brotherly love.
Friends – Everyone, whether it is the late nights of Poker, Super Brawls with the guys, McDonalds runs, Raves, beating Joe at pool, or just hanging out in Prendy's basement, you're always there for me. – Justin B

Mom, Dad, Christian, Daniel, & Scout- Thank you for being the greatest family even when I wasn't being the greatest family member. I would not be who I am today in part because of you and I thank you for always supporting me.
Julianne- I suppose it only makes sense that two most hilarious (and of course, modest) people on the planet would eventually find each other. This entire yearbook could not contain our memories, jokes, and catchphrases. Thank you for being there for me over the past amazing four years and being the best friend anyone could ask for.
Emily- It has been an honor getting to know you ever since you came to Masco. You are one of the most innately good people I know and I am proud to be able to able to call you one of my closest friends.
Taylor- Such good times, thank you for filling up my social calendar. The North Shore Mall will certainly never be the same without us. E51 forever!

Wow. I remember the beginning of freshman year like yesterday. One day in particular when I thought about the rest of high school and how it seemed like I had FOREVER until senior year... guess not. Hands down the busiest and best years of my life so far all thanks to my family and friends.

Mom and Dad... couldn't have done it without your love and support. Mike and Dani... you guys made it all interesting. Love you two too.

To my friends who all kept me sane throughout everything, I love you too... Gabby, Charlie, Cam, Dooley, Harrison, our lunch table of misfits, MBT and alla' all in it, Angry Dave, wet naked... and if I forgot you... so sorry -.. It's been real, WORD.

Family is what made my high school experience unforgettable
Mom&Dad: you made me what I am today, I can't thank you enough.
Mel: although I may not willingly accept it at first, your advice throughout my life has been some of the best.
Stephen: Your potential is endless; don't be afraid to figure that out for yourself.
Tori: Hold on to your kind nature throughout your life and be confident in everything you do and you will go far.
To my other Families-
Masco Football: no one can take away from us what we put into it, you guys held the rope.
Winter Friends: We had an esoteric world up there that was all our own, keep killin' it.
Masco Lax: no snipe hunt too hard for you boys, shuck it till the end fellas.
And to the rest of my family: you know exactly who you are, everything was an adventure, and no adventure was too big, we did it right, we made the very best of it. I could not ask for better friends.

To everyone who was like a brother or sister to me throughout high school,
If you called my name out loud,
I would come running.

High school has been the longest 4 years and the shortest 4 years of my life at the same time if that's possible. To my family: you guys have simply been the best. I don't even know what to say about my friends, you guys are crazy. And now something for everyone: If reading makes knowledge, and knowledge is power, and power corrupts, and corruption is a crime, and crime doesn't pay, then if you don't quit reading you'll go broke... well that's not exactly true, but just remember that there is no right way to look at the world, so please experience everything you can while you can.

Mom & Dad: I want to thank you fo always being there when I needed you and for pushing me to become the best person I can be. I also want to thank my twin sister Dana, for helping me when I needed it. Chris, have known you all my life and we have shared many memories together. I want to thank you for sticking with me all the way through school. I think you will be glad that we are finally out. And to my little sister, always push yourself as far as you can go and try the things that no one else dared to do. Class of 2008, few of us will still be friends with each other in the years to come, but the people that remain together will be stronger than ever.

Mom and Dad, I can't thank you for all that you have done for me, from bringing me to early practices to just being there when I needed you. Your valuable support has helped me to become who I am today, and will help guide me in the future. To my sister Katie, keep working hard and have as much fun as you can. To all of my friends: the moments that we have had will remain with me forever, and I thank you for being there to enjoy them with me. Lastly, I want to thank anyone I didn't mention for everything you have done for me.

Good times, and much love.

n the prospect of college looming upon us all, id been hard to imagine a time during which I have to say goodbye to my friends and family ore we leave. Only one word really sums gs up, and that's "thanks". Thanks for being e when you knew what was right for me er than I knew for myself. Thanks for helping o make the right choices and thanks for ance when I made the wrong ones. Thanks ot always agreeing with me, but instead ring an alternative view to my own so I could o an open mind. Thanks for holding me up n I was down until I could stand on my own. nks for the laughs, and even for the fights, ause they made us closer. I'm honored to w that the bonds I share with you, my friends, omething beyond friendship. I love you all. so this isn't goodbye, it's merely a turning t. Because though we might be separated istance, I'm not going anywhere. And thanks showing me that neither are you.

Mum and Papa – Thank you for your love and for always being there for me. Natalie – Remember when we were like sisters? Thanks for the giggles, the dancing, the shopping, and, of course, letting me borrow your clothes. Derek and Dustin – You guys never let up on me, and I am all the better for that. I love you all. Friends – Thanks for the support, all the laughs, and always keeping it fun and exciting. Good friends are like stars. You don't always see them, but you always know they are there. CS, BW, CD, AM, LD, MB, SM, KD, CC, CC, SR... Mr. Meinelt – I am grateful that you believed in me, pushed me to extend my creativity, and taught me the process. MGS '08 – CAL Champs! Thanks for an unforgettable season and the friendships made. You will always smell like "updawg." Make me proud!! And I am truly grateful for the countless others who have helped me grow and made me who I am today. Congratulations Class of 2009!!! Remember to love life, engage in it, give it all you've got. Love it with a passion, because life truly does give back what you put into it.

I can remember being a freshman looking through my brother's yearbook and thinking about how long it would be until I was a senior. Now I'm sitting her wondering where all the time went. These past four years have been some of the best years of my life. Kevin- our Halloween costumes say it all. Steve- we always seem to entertain ourselves and we're really good at making new friends! Deanna- I would literally fail out of high school if it weren't for you. Ashley- You have taught me so much and I can't imagine going through high school without you. Chris- you're a constant example of how to live life to the fullest and a great older brother. Danielle and Erica- I couldn't ask for better sisters. You are always there for me when I need someone to talk to. Mom and Dad- I love you two, you have always led me in the right direction and kept me out of trouble, and I thank you for it. To all my friends and anyone else I missed, I hope you attain your goals and always strive for the unattainable. Good luck!

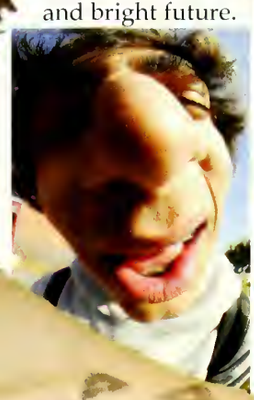
Senior Spotlight: XAVIER chambers

Pre-Professional Beat Boxer, Canoe Enthusiast, Cheiftain Mascot, and Nature Guide!

Recognized for his crazy and outgoing personality, Senior Xavier Chambers is a man of many talents. He can often be seen sporting a headdress and body paint as the always enthusiastic Masconomet Chieftain. Some of his hidden talents include rescuing cars from unfortunate predicaments, jumping trucks, being an Eagle Scout, and even knife throwing; but one of his most public abilities is beat-boxing.

Although he first began beat-boxing last year during math class, he has already performed in both the Talent Show and Mr. Masco. His good friend and master beat-boxer, Steve Kallock, has served as his inspiration. Xavier says that he enjoys beat-boxing because "you can make music wherever you go." He continues to experiment even though he is modest about his new acquired skill saying, "I'm alright; I can make some sounds." There's even some talk of a possible Christmas album, which would feature his versions of Jingle Bells and O Holy Night. "The album is gonna be sick." Everyone should be excited for the freestyle track which will showcase Xavier's capabilities. Surprisingly, beat-boxing is not the only musical component of his life. His natural tendencies towards all things musical are inherited from his parents who both write, sing and play music. Xavier is involved in three different bands. He has been the drummer of an Irish rock band, Unspoken Youth, for the longest time. He is also the drummer for a death metal band called Angry, and plays guitar for the third band, known as Nature Guide.

Ironically, Xave could be considered a nature gui himself, as he regularly canoes to school. One day he had epiphany and decided that since everybody else was drivin walking, biking, or taking the bus, he was going to try canoeing. Coffee is essential when he wake up at 5:45 in the morning to embark on his journey. Beginning at the Peabody Street Canoe Launch in Middleton and passing under Thunder Bridge, wildlife and animals are not an uncommon sight. Xavier especially enjoys canoeing in the wintertime because even though h has to paddle as hard as he can t break through the ice, it's still "sick!" Occasionally his canoe gets stuck on the top of the ice, but he has yet to tip over. Canoeing is "a good way to start the day and it's usually pretty chill in the morning." But the reason he truly enjoys canoeing is the connection between "you and the river." Xave's passion and enthusiasm for all of the environmental and musical activities in his life ensures him a very happy and bright future.



"I alright; I make so sound

"My favorite thing about teaching, especially with the younger kids, is to watch them start to enjoy sailing and lose the fear that many of them have in the beginning."

KATHLEEN RAGAN

SAILOR RUNNER AND EXCEPTIONAL LACROSSE PLAYER

Kthleen Ragan has been sailing for as long as she can remember. Her interest was nflenced by her parents who were very supportive of her passion for sailing and vetually signed her up for classes when she was eight. From student to instructor, Katleen now teaches children from ages eight to fifteen to sail. The job takes up most f hr time, as it is every day during the summer from 8:00am to 5:30pm.

Fr any of you readers who are looking to sail, Kathleen warns that the most nprtant thing to remember while on a sailboat is to wear a lifejacket and to beware of neoom - the swinging pole to which the sail is attached. She admits that she has had fe unfortunate experiences with the boom during her many years of sailing. Another nir to note when entering this exciting sport is that those cute little sailor suits seen so fte in cartoons will not cut it on the open sea. Kathleen says that her sailor's uniform orists of athletic shorts, a t-shirt and a lifejacket.

Kthleen loves to sail because it is a stress free experience and an activity away from oc ty. The boats she teaches on have two sails and are much smaller than the ones neuses in Maine with her grandfather and dad. Although smaller boats capsize more as and are more sensitive, she still enjoys them most because they are made for acig. Kathleen races on both sized boats against her dad, grandfather and friends.

Te athleticism Kathleen uses in sailing also helps her succeed in school sports; this nutalented senior is captain of varsity cross country, indoor track, and lacrosse. She is lsca fervent fan of the Boston Celtics. Her love of the sport has brought her close to a rarplayer on the team, Rajon Rondo. Their first encounter occurred during game one f te NBA Finals last year, when Rondo was at the foul line. Just as he was sinking a ecthrow, the two lovebirds' eyes met. Kathleen says of the experience, "He literally looked at me and the guy in front of me was like, 'Did ou see that?' and I was like, 'Yeah I know!'" Although Kathleen is mrarrassed to speak so freely of her relationship with Rondo, she nerstands this is what people like to hear about; and what the eple want, the people get.

Kthleen's involvement in sports has led her to wear some pretty ra outfits. Perhaps the most notorious of her ensembles is the pv costume, which she sported for an entire school day. She dnts that sometimes the crazy costumes she wears for spirit days re he clothes she secretly wishes she could wear on a regular as. She is not looking to start a cow trend but would like to dress a combination of fashions from the 60s through the 80s. Just icre an explosion of tie-dye and spandex everywhere and you illsee the world in which Kathleen wishes to live. She projects iedliness and enthusiasm in whatever she does. Whether it be itl her wacky outfits or her humorous words, Kathleen always nows how to make those around her smile.

Thank you to my friends and family for supporting me throughout my entire high school career. As this part in my life comes to a close, I hope that each and every one of you will stay in my life as a new part begins.

A saying by Aristotle was that a friend is a single soul dwelling in two bodies. During these years together, we have learned that this is something that is more than true. The two of us have endured things that have helped us to grow together into best friends. We will have each other for years and years to come.

Wow! I honestly cannot believe that this high school journey is all over. So many people have helped me get this far. Mom, Dad, Andrew and Daniel- I could not have done this without your love and support the whole way through. My brothers, good luck to you in the rest of your days at Masco! Friends- What can I say about you guys. I have had so many fun times with all of you. I am sad we will all be parting our separate ways. I am disappointed that we won't be at that lunch table next year. So many memories at that table. Liam and Steve- I am really gunna miss our Sunday's at the Kelley Residence. Mom, Dad, Leianne: Thank you for always being there to support me. You continuously seem to love me more each day. I ♥ you unconditionally.

Ashley: We've been best friends since the first year I came to this school & I can't explain how grateful I am to have met you. Even though we seem to disagree on countless things, we agree on so much more.

Breanna: I'm so thankful to have become friends with you. Although we haven't known each other for that long, we've definetely gotten a lot closer.

Debbie, Maria, Tswon - you guys have definetely been the biggest part of my life outside of school. You guys are like my sisters and I can tell you each and every thing that runs through my mind. I love you guys to the ends of the earth.

These last 12 years cannot be described
By the brick buildings that confined us
But by the people who were beside us
And the bad hair
And worse teeth that defined us
And I'd like to thank those
Who raised the question "What's my age again?"
And I'm thankful
That the people
Who brought me back down to gravity
Are the same people
Who picked me up from fashion catastrophe
And I can't help but to look beyond the drama
To our laughable booty drops
Lucky thieves who stole our hearts
Countless out of the way Campbell rd stops
And late night secrets that took
Orchestras of giggles to start
And I'd type out all of your initials
But I know you know
Our friendships deserve more than 10 pt. font
So to the guys and girls I'd be lost without
This is not a good-bye but a see you later
And I LOVE YOU L<s>O</s>VE!

Wow! When they told me that high school was going to fly by, I didn't want to believe it. Now its senior year and I'm starting to feel sad. Masco gave me a chance to talk to students I wouldn't normally talk to outside of this school. I'm going to miss the fun group discussions that I had in forensic science, the crappy school dances with the bad DJ's, and the funny rumors, drama and gossip. I hope that step team r3tRo PHr3$h will continue what me and Jamie started. I want to come back and see the step team continue doing big things.

It seems that somewhere between the procrastination & homework ..between the I miss you & what's going on tonight .. between the going to class & skipping it .. between the studying & pretending ... I have forgotten. I forgot that pretending to be happy does not make you happy. I forgot that you can't just forget the past in fear of the future. I forgot u cant control falling in love. I've learned its okay to mes up & ask for help.. I learned friends help no matter what.. I learned they are most important Both new and old, you make my day, without my friends I wouldn't be who I am today,

&I love all of you.

I can't believe high school is over. So many good times, I'm going to miss them. Dad – Thank you for everything. You have taught me so much. There is no way I would have made it this far without you behind me. Mom – Thank you for always being there to support me. Leanne – You're pretty cool. And a good sister too. Joey – Best friends since 7th grade. So many memories. So many more to come. Salvo – Tons of Hilarious times. I swear on Patrick that I copyright having a senior square…Terry. Ant Diesel – I would go to battle with or against you any day. Laraque vs. Lucic baby!!! Pat – HEY PAT. Cam – I will always be down to hit you with some vida. Olivia – I can't even think about you without smiling. No matter where the road leads you could never be replaced. I love you. All The Other Bro's – you know who you are. Whether it was hockey or football or hanging out on the weekends, you guys made high school fun. Good luck and congratulations seniors.

Masco Soccer 08: Unforgettable. I couldn't have asked you guys for a better season. Keep up the Tradition boys. To all my friends, you guys mean the world to me and words simply can't describe the ridiculous memories I have had with you guys. Serino, thank you so much for all you have done for me. You have supported me during all four of my High School years. K.O., keep fighting kid. You've gone through so much; you can make it through anything. And to my family; thank you for putting up with me for so long, through my stubbornness and my obsession with my car. You guys did so much for me.

Aspiring Dancer

The Life of a Dance

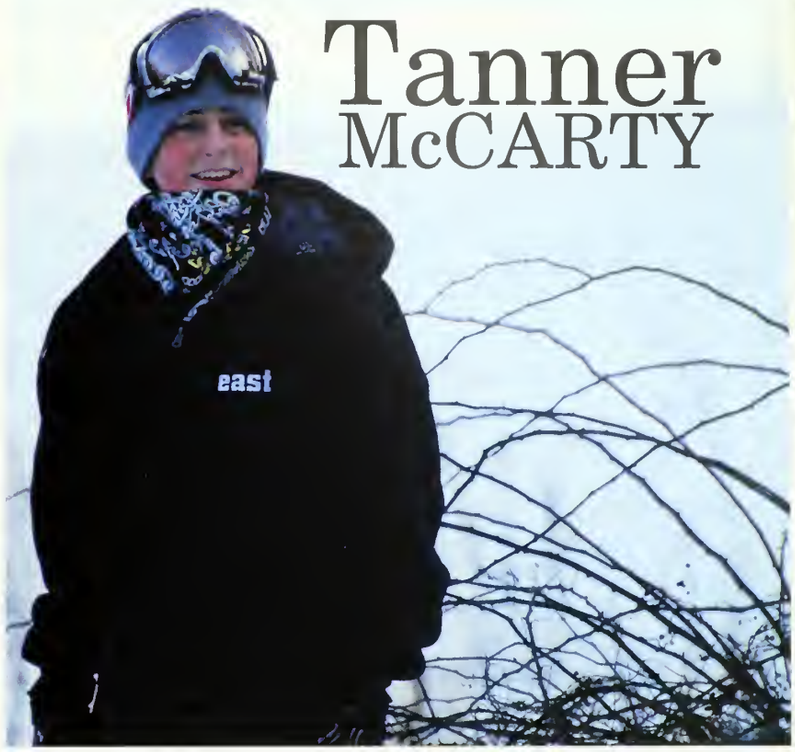
Even a student who believes that they are well acquainted with all of their peers at Masco may not realize that the future wife of Jesse McCartney is among us. Although her love is a well kept secret, Deanna Decoulos is not a shy person. In fact, many of her peers know her for her spontaneity and fiery personality which matches the shade of her curly red hair. But Deanna's bright and vibrant side truly shows whenever she is on the dance floor.

Ever since she was three years old, Deanna has been perfecting a wide variety of dance styles. These include jazz, tap, ballet, point, lyric, open, contemporary, modern and even hip hop occasionally. Fortunately, she doesn't practice alone. Instead she goes to Liza Indiciani Studio of Dance in Beverly, where she even learned how to do "a pretty dirty crip-walk." At her dance studio, Deanna is involved in a rigorous schedule, consisting of an average of two to three hours of practice a weekday.

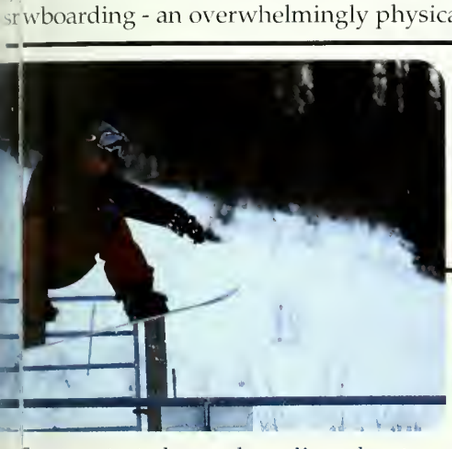
The culmination of her hard work occurs between February and May, including the competition season. Although she prefers dancing solo, Deanna also dances in duos, trios, small groups and teams. Usually she competes locally in about five competitions a year. Her dance team goes to Nationals every other year, but their trip to New Jersey last summer was by far the best one yet. Even though they didn't win, Deanna remembers that it was fun to dance together as a team against nationally ranked competitors.

Although Deanna stands out as a result of her red hair and crazy outgoing personality, she will now not only be recognized for her talent and ability in dance, but also for her prospective future with Jesse McCartney.

Tanner McCARTY



anner McCarty, the Shaun White of the Tri-town, has gained noriety as the resident snowboarder here at Masconomet. But upon closer inspection, one finds that he is no "one trick pony". He surfs, skateboards, drives a stick shift, and though reluctant to admit it, Tanner has been a staple of the varsity golf team for three years in a row. When he's not shredding the slopes, it is safe to assume that Tanner is dressed to impress in an argyle sweater and plaid pants at the local country club teeing off. Playing golf gives Tanner the opportunity to participate in a sport that requires more mental ability than physicality. "It's a nice change of pace; it's kind of a weird thing, you know, people don't really see anything the same in the two sports, and there's really not. But I like playing golf. I like playing golf because it's a mental game", a nice alternative from snowboarding - an overwhelmingly physical sport.



Tanner started snowboarding about seven years ago and his love of the sport has not yet wavered. Becoming the impressive snowboarder that he is today required quite a bit of blood, sweat and tears and more than a few broken bones. He has broken his arm twice, cracked a rib and vertebra, has suffered three concussions, sprained an ankle, and hyper-extended a knee. But the most serious damage came in the form of a broken jaw when, last season, he overshot a jump and slammed his chin into his knee in the process. It was a split second misjudgment that put Tanner out of commission for almost four weeks with his jaw wired shut. Injured and away from his beloved slopes, Tanner's recovery could not come soon enough; recounting the most daunting aspect of the experience Tanner said "I couldn't eat anything, I had to drink everything. Lots of frappes and smoothies and whatever I could fit in a straw".

But Tanner has never let his many injuries affect him; he knows that snowboarding has certain risks, and broken bones are all part of the sport. His dedication to the sport he loves, and his impressive showings at regional contests have led to several sponsorships and features in snowboarding videos by Loon Mountain and Eastern Border. Tanner's endorsements include a free lift pass from Loon, and sponsorships by Forum Snowboarding, Oakley, Eastern Boarder, and Celtek Glove cover most of the other costs associated with this traditionally expensive sport.

Even with all of his talent and acclaim Tanner is not planning on going pro after high school. He says that "in order to be a pro snowboarder nowadays, you can't really go to college because you have to do it year round" which he cannot see himself doing. Always the environmentalist, Tanner sees himself working in the field of alternative/renewable energy resources. Some of his favorite classes at school are film making media courses, so don't be surprised to someday hear of Tanner's creation of An Inconvenient Truth Strikes Back. Look out! Because the future of this Masconomet senior is looking bright and brimming with opportunity.

These past four years of high school have been truly unforgettable. It is hard to believe that it's all over. There is one important lesson that I learned in high school and that is to be your self. I wanted to thank my Mom and Dad for helping me find who I am today and always being there to support me. Also to my brother, Timothy thanks for always being there for me, and my best wishes for you in the future. Thank you to all my friends for creating these life long memories and relationships. Congrats Class of '09!

Dad – Thanks for your never-ending support throughout the years. I still can't believe you and Mom sat at countless gymnastics meets for 5 hours just to see me compete for 2 minutes. Also, you really are funny. Love you
Mom – Thanks for being there. You're one of the most kindhearted people I know. I'll miss watching our shows together each week. Love you
Michael – You're the greatest (older) brother I could ever ask for. Thanks for everything you've taught me. I don't think I'll ever stop laughing at Mrs. Doubtfire or Angels in the Outfield quotes. Love you!
David – You're the best. You can always make me laugh and you always know what I'm thinking. I'll miss watching hours of Lorraine clips with you. Good luck in the rest of your high school years... Love you, D!

Kalin – My twin. You are my best friend and I could never thank you enough for everything you've done for me. You know me better than I do. I've had the greatest 4 years with you keeping me laughing by my side. I love you!
Masco Gym – Good luck, girls! Keep smiling and attack it. Live it and love it.
Friends – Thanks for everything. I love you all so much. Good luck in the years to come! ♥

First of all I want to thank Mom, Dad, and Rob for putting up with me all these years, I know I can sometimes be tough to live with. I want to thank my grandpa, puppy, for everything he's done that most grandparents wouldn't do for their grandson. Paige thanks for being a friend all these years. I'm gona miss soccer in your backyard. Andy you've been a great friend all these years and I think we're even from junior year. Orfanos you're my best Greek friend, don't tell Maria. And enough, no she didn't stop telling people she did. MBT boys, thanks, you guys we're always there for me even when I was at my lowest. It's sad to think that I have to cram a statement on the past 4 years of my life in this tiny 3.75 x 2.5 inch space, but here goes nothing. To Mom, Dad, Caroline, Ian, and Timmy, thanks for all the help and dealing with me through these past 4 years. I love you guys, and I can't wait to see where college will take me. Thank you Mom, Dad and Katrina for guiding me through all of these years I love you. Thanks to all of my friend's u know who u are. All of the crazy things we did drifting in the winter, erratic driving, cruising on the Talladega, off-roading in Justin's jeep, all of the modifications done to Seth's rig, bowling the Chrysler. All of the crazy things we did at the barn, at xave's and all of the parties and road trips. High school was an amazing experience and these memories will stay with us for the rest of our lives.

"Every setback in life, leads to a comeback, so never give in..."

Don't look at this picture and think, this is Josh White. Don't look at the smile or the pose or the hair and think, this is what he truly was. Any other day a picture would show a bandanna and sunglasses, no matter if it was raining, snowing or 120° outside. I want to be remembered for who I truly was. The person who did what he liked regardless of what people thought of him. The person who was nice, mean, fun, sad, annoying and a good friend all in one. I've made and lost a lot of friends, I've done some things I'm not too proud of. But in the end it all led me to be this person, the one and only Josh White. And I thank all my friends and family, the ones that keep me on track and make me remember who I really am every day of my life. So what can I say Masco our 4 years have gone so fast, wake me up when semester ends.

Mom you are the best. You put up with me no matter what I did, and you've supported me with everything. You did your best to raise me, and everything you did was for me and Paul. You always put us first. I could tell you anything and you would always listen. Anytime that I had a problem you were there for me. I never needed to lie to you, and you always trusted me. I love you so much and thank you.
Grammy you have been the biggest help in my life. You helped raise me just as much as mom. I love you so much and I will always be there for you.
Harry, Alex, Mike "The Kourmanopoli," you guys are the funniest people I know. You have made my life so fun and I can't picture being best friends with anyone else. I will always remember the times we've had. Alex you are too funny. Harry there is so much I want to say but not enough room
Megan, Mary, Kate we have had so much fun together and I only wish we met sooner. Kate (Babe) you are one of the best things that has happened to me and I am so glad you are mine. I can honestly say I love you. To all three of you I will always be there for you.
Max, Jon, Conor B, and everyone at the lunch table I will remember all of you guys forever. We had so much fun every day and I will miss you guys. Good times at MB haha.

TWINS

Did you know? Masco's Class of 2009 has a record number of twins! With ten sets, it's nearly impossible to go a day without seeing at least one of them. If somehow you've missed them, you can take the chance to meet them below! Each pair has their own unique qualities (some of which are mentioned on the right), and they will all be sorely missed next year.

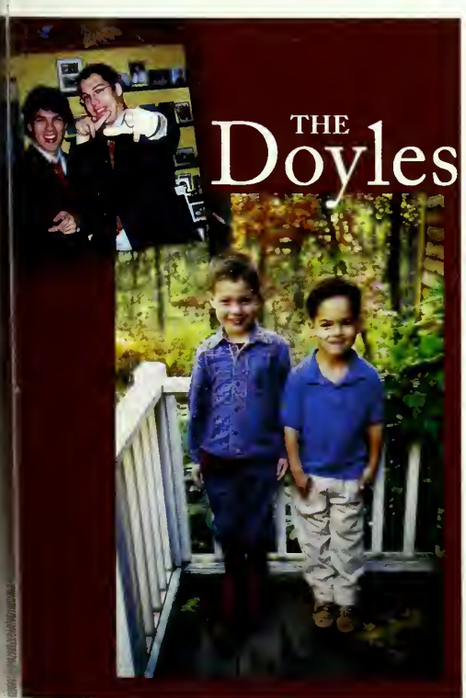
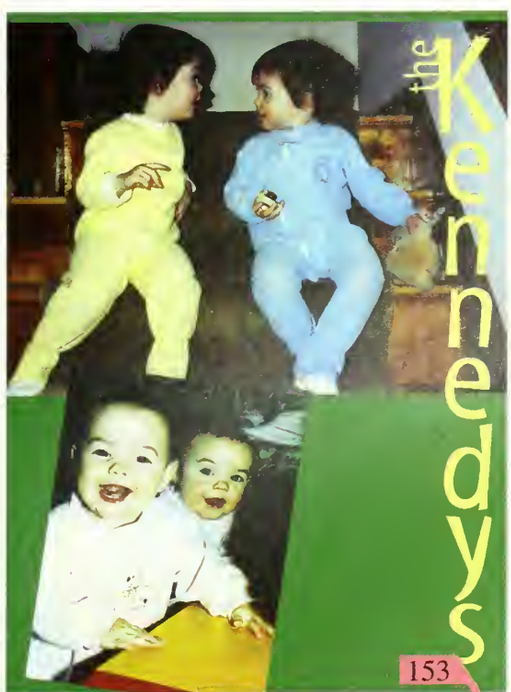
5. Carl and Kate Anderson 6. Madeline and Max Dansky 7. Kevin and Steven Beard 8. Jill and Joan Siopes 9. Max and Zach Doyle 10. Kathleen and Tim Ragan

Can you tell the twins apart? Prove it! Try matching these fun facts to their respective twins. Answers are at the bottom of the page.

1. These twins are an aunt and an uncle.
2. Both twins in this set are vegetarians.
3. These twins' grandfather was a twin too.
4. This twin tried to turn his sister into a Smurf.
5. These twins are actually from North Andover.
6. These twins got their driver's licenses six months apart.
7. These twins can bench over 500 pounds.
8. These twins used to live in Hampton Beach.
9. These twins can help you do your grocery shopping in Middleton.
10. This twin spends his life in the water; his sister spends hers on the water.





1. Lauren and Brian Giroux 1. Laura and Julia Kennedy 3. Brittany and Heather Fraser 4. Dana and Graham Cochrane 5. Carl and Kate Anderson

France

During April of last year, a group of 23 Masconomet juniors and seniors had the opportunity to live in Rennes, France. About a four hour drive out of Paris, Rennes is the capital of the Bretagne region of France and the city where the host families resided. During their two week stay, they visited the Eiffel Tower, the Arc de Triomphe, the Notre Dame Cathedral, and Versailles.

Exchange

This year a group of 19 Masconomet seniors traveled to Granada in the Andalucía region of Spain for 2 weeks. Along with normal exchange activities like attending the school and staying at a home, the group had the opportunity to tour local monuments like La Alhambra in Granada, La Catredal in Sevilla, and La Mesquita in Córdoba.

Under the Lights

On those exciting Friday nights, students from all over the Tri-town gather together in support of the Masconomet Chieftains. No matter the weather conditions, you're sure to see the stands filled with adoring fans, and possibly a dancing Chieftain or two. The Pep Band adds to the ambiance of the night with typical sports anthems such as "The Hey Song" or if you're lucky a little Star Wars theme. The music is so loud that reverberations can be felt on the cold metal bleachers. Away from the stands, students and parents are found all around eating food or simply chatting. Middle school boys attend each game in their Masconomet uniforms, and as they tackle each other and run with the ball, they envision themselves in the varsity players' shoes.

At the Homecoming game, in true Masco shock and awe style, Junior Chris Splinter made an interception in the last few seconds of the first half, scoring a touchdown after running from the opposite end-zone. This tremendous display led Senior Tim Ragan to declare, "This game is goodlier than last year's!" Fans jump out of their seats and rush to the front of the bleachers when Splinter and other Masconomet football stars dominate the field. But the team spirit does not end there.

During the Homecoming game Senior Xavier Chambers went all out, dressing as the familiar Masco Chieftain with a feather headdress and his phone number painted on his back. As the game went on, Chambers' nonstop energy, with his eccentric dance moves and crazy antics, stirred up the crowd. With a sign reading "NOISE" on one side and "WE BELIEVE IN COACH PUGH" on the other, Chambers encouraged the Masco fans to proudly display their school pride through earsplitting cheers. This kind of dedication displayed by Masco's student body drives the team's great performances.

The team's praiseworthy commitment to their sport leads them to train nonstop. Senior Captains Clay Cleveland and Steven Sylvia note that unlike other sports at Masco, football is year-round. The team wakes up early for lifting in the summer and the winter, so even when the actual season is not going on the team is still working their fingers to the bone. Masconomet is currently the only undefeated team in the Cape Ann League. The team's hard work has brought their goal of taking the title and making it to Gillette Stadium closer than ever before. The team played their final game with a strong start, but unfortunately they could not keep up the streak and lost, only one game away from Gillette.

To a naive bystander, being a member of the football team may seem more like torture than anything else, however; to its participants it is family. The guys have their fair share of fun and before the games they participate in a new pre-game chant led by "Diesel". The guys keep the atmosphere light and after every win, they blast Techno in celebration. On a closing note, Captains Cleveland and Sylvia would like to make a shout-out to "D-Line", "Pick Six Squad", and "Eric Dusel" who all have their own part in contributing to the greatness of the Masconomet Football Team.

The bell rings at 2:15 on Friday afternoon and the parking lot clears out in a matter of minutes. While most Masco students are going to hang out with their friends at THOP, the XC Bunnies are at Bradley Palmer, stretching before hill sprints. "Bradley Palmer is great for a walk," says Captain Allie Penta with a laugh. But the Bunnies are no strangers to hard work. From 6am practices to grueling track workouts, these girls are truly dedicated to working to the best of their ability, and their 10-2 record proves it. Besides being seeded 4th in the state, they also led Coach Joe Casey to his 300th victory this season. Some might find the task of knowing 85 girls daunting, but Coach Casey doesn't have any trouble. From Ali "Shinbones Kid" Letvinchuk to Sarah "The Shadow" Barrett, no one goes unnoticed. Along with his quirky nicknames, Mr. Casey is also known for his infamous quotes. Questions like "Did I stutter?" and "Where's your hugger?" are frequently heard around the team. Although the Bunnies work hard, they still find the time to have fun.

BOYS

The top runners are placed in line as the vast open field goes silent. With the shot of the gun, the red army plunges forward, engrossing the spectators. Despite the 85 members on the boys' cross country team, they possess the chemistry of a family. "Everyone is really chill and laid back, and no one really gets nervous before a meet," says Junior Lee Greeley, the Masco boys' top runner. With a stunning 11-1 record (their best season yet), the boys' hard work proved successful. From the start, the team demonstrated their remarkable skills with a well earned victory against the tough-to-beat Hamilton-Wenham. Their new team code prohibited the boys from skipping more than four practices, strengthening both their commitment and running abilities.

At the final meet of the season, the boys suffered their first loss against rival North Andover. Though this ended their undefeated season, the boys still had much to be proud of. With their top runner earning 5th on the Masconomet victory board, displaying a record time of 16:38, this season will certainly be one of great memories.

With a new coaching staff and a new attitude, the volleyball team made it to the semi-finals after eight years of anticipation. The team excelled this year and shattered last season's record of 6-14, with an impressive 12-11 record. Although the team was the underdog this season, the Masco girls came out with an impressive victory over Methuen, ranked 2nd. The girls' unexpected achievement in the 2008 season is in part due to their new coach and work ethic.

The team had a rigorous schedule of three games per week, along with an intensive practice schedule, courtesy of newly appointed coach, Alyssa Schatzel. "You're only as good as your worst player", Senior Anneke Beard remarks, and this year's team appears to be made up of champions. A record number of fans showed up to support the girls for the final game of the season. Their new fan-base promises to lead the girls to even more successes next year.

When they say red you say white! If you don't consider cheering a sport, consider this: the girls spend upwards of twelve hours a week practicing their routines and performing at football games. That doesn't include the extensive three-week preseason or extra tumbling classes at Yellow Jackets Gymnastics. According to captain Ashley Emmons, a typical cheering practice consists of "dancing, stunting, tumbling, and rehearsing cheers." Girls committed to the sport typically start cheering as early as age 8 and continue all the way up through high school.In the cheering world, the entire season comes down to one performance at the Cape Ann League competition. Training for this event is truly a team effort. Not only must every cheerleader have their own routines perfected, but also have their team in perfect synchronization. Stunts such as pyramids would be impossible without this kind of discipline. It's safe to say that the squad earns everything

Nerves are shot as the whistle is blown and Coach Iseman's chant of "Crush their hopes and dreams!" reverberates over the field. The field hockey girls came into this year with an eager desire to reach the top. Though they held a reputable record last year, with ten graduating seniors, the team knew they had a lot of ground to cover this season. Tying their greatest rival, North Andover, and beating Amesbury for a second time helped solidify their record.

Qualifying for the State Tournament with a win against Ipswich, the team continued working to get the best seed possible. With eight varsity players returning this season, the team knew that success was within reach. By giving it their all, this willing group of girls never let each other down. Their persistence and strong capabilities gave them the determination to conquer.

GOLF

Whether they are riding on the "lucky bus" to an away match or teeing off at practice, a presence of modesty always surrounds Masco's Golf Team. For such a small team, talent is certainly abundant. It is an accomplishment in itself to earn a spot on the lineup; tryouts are almost as competitive as the regular season. Only twelve of Masconomet's most skilled athletes made the cut to play on one of the "best golf teams in the state." Under the guidance of Coach Ben Hodges, the boys worked hard to achieve a notable record of 13-4. Another highlight of the season was when the team broke several school records playing Ryder Cup matches at practice. As if that wasn't enough, Captain Michael Pollack-Twomey was named Player of Year for the Cape Ann League, and seniors Dan McQueen and Jim Dixon qualified for individual state finals. Dan McQueen and Jim Dixon qualified for individual state finals. With underclassmen taking from team members Zach Ciampa and Alex Keane, the future looks bright for next season.

Fancy Footwork

Running by, lungs on fire, the boys' soccer team is finishing their fifth drill, and is not even close to the end of practice. This is just another day in the life of a Masconomet soccer player. This year's stellar performance can be attributed to the team's focus on the "simple moves", knowing that when these are perfected during practices, the fancy footwork necessary for game-time will fall into place.

Senior Captain Andrew Mello believes that this year's team is uniquely strong due to its balance of great talent and lack of a weak link. The team is very connected and although the boys can no longer bond over T-P outings, they remain "tight" as they are close group of upperclassmen who have been playing togeth for years. The team's goal of making it through the Cape Ar League undefeated was accomplished with an overall reco of 17-0-1. Due to this successful record, the team was rank second in the state by the Boston Globe. At the end of t season, the team made it to States, continuing their lo season of commitment to their sport, followed by a lar supportive Masco fan base. The team realized that they wou still have to work hard to earn the championship tit knowing that nothing comes easy. Even though their goal winning States was not achieved, the Masconomet bo soccer team should be extremely pleased with the over success of their season.

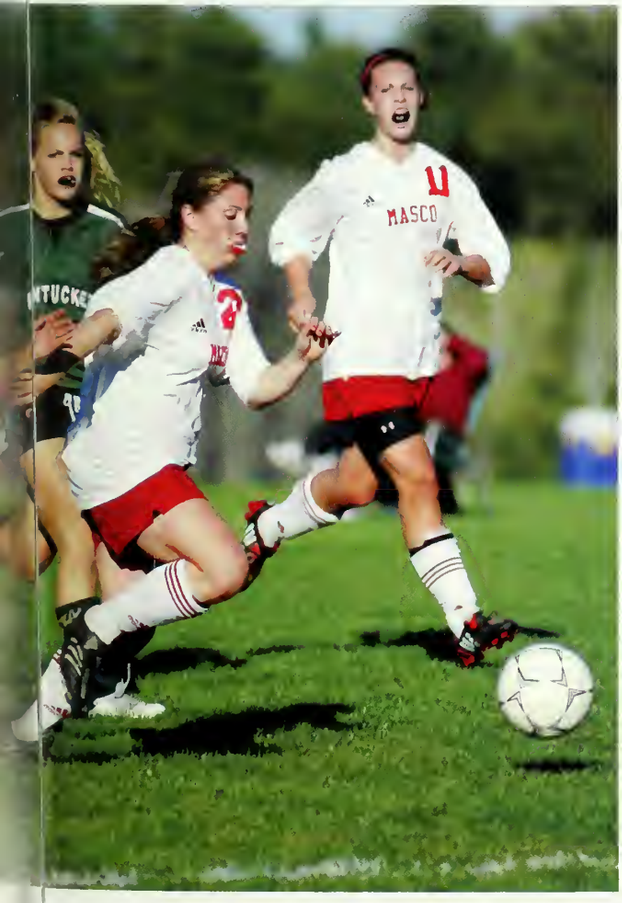
Whether it's a home game under the lights or pantsing each other during practice, the girls' varsity soccer team always manages to have fun. Finishing last year's season with a strong 16-2-2 record, the girls came into this year with high expectations. With their last year's title as Co CAL Champs, the willful team hoped to make it to the State Tournament. Their fifteen returning lettermen helped make it possible to successfully defeat Newburyport in one of the biggest games of the season. Scoring in the last thirty seconds, they were able to epically take the win.



After Senior Captain and forward starter Ashley McKenelley was injured, Junior Lexi Dussi successfully filled her void. Despite this loss, the team went undefeated for sixteen games and ended the season with a final record of 17-1. Continuing on a path of excellence, the girls were awarded with the CAL Champs title.

"Well boys, it's been real", noted Coach Quinn as the Boys Ski team prepared to blast down the mountain. As the team's greatest rival, St. John's Prep, waits patiently to follow Masco down the trail, there wasn't one skier who couldn't help but feel the tension lingering in the bitter air. Despite the team's involvement in some of the largest meets ever, the boys always managed to have a great deal of lively fun. A true highlight of the season through the eyes of Senior Captain Nic Baltas were the memorable pasta parties hosted by the team's seniors. The food and laughs that this team of friends shared always made for a good time. However, being a member of this ski team was not always easy. On Mondays through Thursdays the boys spent their afternoons at Bradford setting courses and racing to improve their techniques. Working through even the hardest of practices proved beneficial as the boys ended their season with a decent record of 4-6.

With an immaculate record of 10-0, the Girls Ski team put forth an outstanding performance throughout the season. Finishing the year with the North Shore League title, the team sent four qualifying girls to the State Championship. The outcome was exceptional and the girls placed second in the state, a mere twenty points off from first place. Despite the hard work put into every practice and race, the girls' determination paid off and allowed them to not only pursue a great season, but create a family within the team. Though they were forced to say farewell to their oldest members, the girls left the season with a great feeling of accomplishment and the desire to dominate in the years to come.

Though many of the team's star performers graduated last y r, Masco's 2008-2009 gymnastics team has built itself up to an incred y strong group. It takes a great amount of dedication to be a gymnast as e team practices for two hours a day four days a week and those who re members of club teams practice separately for an additional four hou a day six days a week. The commitment of the team-members is nothin to scoff at and Senior Captain Sarah Meinelt said, of being on the team, t at "you can't go away on vacation, you have to go to every practice. . . e n missing one will throw you off." The team usually has one or two mee a week, and dresses up for school on these days to show their spirit.

The meets consist of four events: the uneven bars, floor routines, e vault, and the balance beam. From each team only six of its members n participate in any single event, and each gymnast participates in up to three events. Each team is allowed to have two all-arounds w o participate in all four events. The top four scorers from each event rec e points that are added to their team's score.

Masco is one of the only schools in the league to have a male on e team and Senior Captain Nate Steggall does not disappoint as the tea 's star on the vault. Some other critical members of the team are Lau n Searles who participates in the bars, beam, and vault, and Helen Steg ll and Sarah Meinelt, the two all-arounds on the team. Members Che ea O'Hara and Marissa Angelone both promise to bring the team succes in the future. Unfortunately O'Hara was injured this year and could ot participate in much of the season; otherwise Captain Meinelt assures at she would have been a top competitor.

Though the success that the team has earned this year has require a lot of hard work, the team has made sure to keep things fun. Ma co students have most certainly seen at least a few of the team's wacky sp it days first hand. The team also has frequent pasta parties. One v y memorable activity was the team sleepover, where everyone enjo ed themselves, especially Captain Steggall who consumed three ene gy drinks and was reportedly off the wall.

The team's even balance of work and play has brought them a fi t-place victory in the North Shore Sectional Meet, second-place in Sta s, and has qualified them for the New England Championship.

Two factors define the Masconomet Wrestling team: hard work and discipline. With an overall record of 12-12 the Masco Wrestling team has come a long way. This year's Senior Captain Steve Perkins was the champion of the 152lb-weight class at the Belmont Tournament and has helped contribute to this season's success. Head Coach Brian Mintz creates a positive and competitive atmosphere for this team. Some of the top scorers on the team include Captains Nathan Hooper, Alex Jones, James Rosenthal, and Stephen Perkins. This season, Peter Brostowin, Justin Lawrence, and Jordan Krull have also stepped up to put big points up on the board. Although the practices are long and sometimes grueling, the team has some fun along with their hard work. "We like to get the team to go to Fudruckers at least once a year", says Senior Captain James Rosenthal, "it's a good way to bond." Next year, Masco Wrestling plans to continue to work just as hard in order to improve in the future.

Run to Win

Throughout the entire winter season, winning has been a top priority for the Boys Tndoor Track team. With an overall record of 6-3 the boys have certainly achieved their aspirations. Improving significantly from last year, the team's line up was much stronger and more competitive at meets. The four Senior Captains, Mark Evans, Mike Koniares, Andy Mello, and Dan Powers are a good source of positive motivation for the rest of the team. "It's an honor just to be selected as one of the four captains, and even though it's a little added pressure, at the same time it's another reason to work that much harder to set a good example for the underclassmen on the team," says Captain Evans. Coach Picillo was very pleased when the team triumphed at their first season meet against Hamilton-Wenham, a team seated first in the Cape Ann League. As the season progressed, junior members of the team such as, Lee Greeley, Dan Goldman, Scott Bermudez, Ryan Lackie and Tyler Plimpton improved tremendously. "It was great to see them realize that they're going to need to assume a lot of responsibility next year," notes Evans. The team certainly ended on a good note at the State meet, when Bradley MacDonald, Mike Koniares, Lee Greeley, and Mark Evans took sixth place in the 4 by 800 meter event. The dedication and advanced skill of the Masconomet Boys Indoor Track team allowed them to achieve their goals.

The girls assemble to the line, as the throng of fans in the gym is silenced. They correctly position their feet into the blocks, and as the gun strikes they disappear into the lanes ahead of them. The Girls Indoor Track team continues to improve as the years go on, and with an overall record of 6-3-1 their improvement is evident. "We did really well considering we never had our full line up because there was someone that was always either sick or injured," says Captain Sydney Allison. This year's captains, Sydney Allison, Rachel Haas, Allie Penta, Kathleen Ragan, and Catherine Rose are five major components of the team and have helped motivate the girls to victory. One very competitive meet this season was the tri-meet versus Wilmington, Pentucket, and Triton on Wednesday, January 7 at Andover High School. Masconomet came out on top against Wilmington, lost to Pentucket, but tied Triton. "We were missing some top runners and we were sure we'd lose but we ended up doing pretty well, and we were all really proud," says Captain Penta. This year the Masconomet Girls Track team qualified to send twenty runners to the Dartmouth Relays. The twenty runners chosen to represent for Masco were elite varsity members of this year's team. Although the girls were hindered by various illnesses and injuries, they battled back and compiled a better record than last season's.

With a new coach and an enthusiastic attitude, the Boys Basketball team had a very successful season. Captain Clay Cleveland said that "it's a lot of hard work and when everyone else goes skiing for the weekend, we stay home and practice". The players are able to work well together because they're all friends. Factors that contributed to their successful overall record of 13-8 include enthusiastic captains, a motivating coach, and the close bond between the players. In order to get the team going, Coach Shea gave inspirational pre-game speeches throughout the whole year. "The overtime win at North Reading was most memorable" notes Captain Cleveland. Even though some important senior players will be leaving next year, promising players like John Daniels, Chris Splinter and Adam Bramanti will carry the team throughout the next season. Although the Boys Basketball team did not meet all of their goals for this season, it was their ability to quickly adjust to a new coach and keep a close bond that made their overall record so successful.

All at once the ball swishes through the net, the crowd in the red zone goes wild, and Coach Romeo yells to get back on defense. With a record of 15-4, Masco Girls Basketball gave 100% all the way to their last game in the second round of States against Westford Academy. After losing several vital players last year, the team had some large shoes to fill, but they were still up to the challenge.

In order to compensate for their loss, the team completely restructured their style of play. "Most of our players aren't in fact very tall so we used our speed to win games," states Junior Captain Carly Kiernan. With help from freshmen newcomers Brooke Stewart and Danielle Davis, the team has a lot of young talent. From pre-game singing and trips to Boston, the team's chemistry was undeniable. The future looks bright for this young team that holds so many great memories and athletes. With only two graduating seniors and more players to come, the Masco Girls Basketball team is one to look out for.

"Playing varsity for four years has been the best high school experience for me. " -Captain Keaton Cashin

Known for their outrageous haircuts and long time rivalry with Newburyport, the Masco Boys Hockey team is anything but ordinary. Led by Captain Keaton Cashin and Assistant Captains Andy Roach and Tom Brazil, the team had an impressive season with a record of 14-5-2. As Captain Cashin says "playing varsity for four years has been the best high school experience for me." Being on this team is a true commitment and with their 4-0 win to Newburyport, the team obviously worked hard this season. After tying for the Cape Anne League title with Wilmington, the team suffered a one-point loss to Lynnfield in the first round of the State Playoffs. Next year, the boys hope to move farther along in States, and with such a close-knit team there is no doubt that they will be able to achieve their goal.

The Masconomet Girls Hockey team is composed of a wide range of athletes from a number of bordering towns. Though divided by town lines, the girls became unified through hard work to form an unstoppable team. With a record of 15-4-4, the girls qualified for the State Tournament for the first time in three years, surpassing everyone's expectations. Senior Captains Hannah Konig and Marissa Paci led the team on and off the ice. This year, girls in the eigth grade were permitted to join the team. With many younger players on the team, it was critical for the seniors to serve as role models, and they surely did an excellent job. The captains kept the team entertained with fun drills such as "Rubber Mania", which was "one of the team's favorite traditions," according to Senior Captain Marissa Paci. With young talent from Pam Heier, Ellie Koenig, and Tori Shea the girls will continue to preserve the legacy of Masco Girls Hockey in the years to come.

Although this year's swim team has had an excellent yet tough work ethic, it might be considered the most relaxed sport at Masconomet. The team actually consists of two teams, the Blue team and the Red team. Head coach Beth Crowe coaches the Red team, while her daughter, Nikki Crowe coaches the Blue. Even with a relatively short season, the team has had great success. Although the team consisted of several graduating seniors last year, many valuable swimmers joined from this year's freshmen class. The team practices Monday through Thursday at the Salem YMCA for an hour each night. Practices consist of sprinting, distance swimming, and diving off the blocks in order to prepare the team for weekly meets. Captains Tim Ragan, Steve Sinclair, Nicole Hamilton and Abigail Clark say that "it's fun to practice and participate in meets". At the meets, the girls look stylish in their black and white one-piece suits with "Masco" displayed across the front in white text. The boys sport black jammers with an "M" located just above the right knee. Water games, pasta parties, and t-rips to Bugaboo Creek and Wendys bring the team together. Captain Nicole Hamilton says that "Bugaboo bread" gives the team the energy to practice and compete in meets. The diving team is a small separate division of the swim team, and all of the divers are also swimmers. Divers have separate practices in addition to the regular swim practices. Although the team did not meet their goal of becoming CAL Champs, they did come in a close second. Captain Steve Sinclair also recieved a notable award at CALS when all eight swim coaches voted him Male Swimmer of the Year. This year's success can be attributed to the laid-back attitude of the captains and the tight-knit bond of the team.

The upcoming season looks extremely bright for Boys Lacrosse as they welcome back returning starters Jay Nicholls, Clay Cleveland, Conor Cliffe, Dan Clark and Drew Bunker. After finishing last season as Co-Champs, this group of guys looks forward to another Cape Ann League title. Never failing to look out for one another and remaining fixed on defeat, this team strives to stay collected and always come up with a win. From pasta parties to attending the NCAA tournament with friends, many laughs are had throughout the season even despite the hard work. Though practices are extremely fast-paced and require the boys to work through multiple drills, they remain positive and always look forward to their next game. Their coaches keep them motivated and boost their confidence even higher, giving them the direction they need for success. As the boys get ready to hit the field in Spring of '09, they prepare for their upcoming Junior players Reed Goodhue and Brendan Dahlgren who will be stepping up into starting positions and giving the team even more ability to accomplish victory.

The passion for the sport and the bond between each teammate unites the girls as they circle up before the game. Coach Marini breaks the silence of nerves and anticipation as she announces the starting line-up. With Senior Captains Maura Brazel and Kathleen Ragan leading this year's team, the girls are guaranteed a source of positive motivation. After the tragic car accident of starting player Kate Evans last year, "the team really came together and became dependent on each other not only as teammates but as best friends", says Brazel. Fortunately, with Evans fully recovered for this year's season, and still losing four seniors from last year, the team proves to be tough competitors. The tryouts this year were traditional to other previous years, consisting of stick handling and running. "Tryouts are a good test of the overall skill and drive of each player, even though they are very exhausting at times", says Junior Elizabeth Iorio. "With North Andover as the girls' toughest team to beat last year and previous seasons, we hope to beat [them] and make a good run in States", says Brazel. As winter comes to a close, and the spring sports begin, thoughts of lacrosse and the team vacation to Disney World are occupying the minds of all the girls on Masconomet Girls Lacrosse.

Promising Season Ahead

This year's Baseball tryouts went very well and the team will consist of many strong players. Even though the team lost four seniors last year, Captain Pat Matvichuk expects for "people this year to step up in their absense." The team's main goal this season is to win States, but they are also hoping to improve their pitching. Some position changes have taken place this year, including Pat Matvichuk playing second base, Steve Beard most likely playing third base, and Kevin Beard and Kevin Anderson most likely starting in the outfield. Although their record of 15-5 last year was very successful, the boys know there's always room for improvement. With such great coaches and captains, this year's Baseball team is sure to have another victorious season.

A League of Their Own

Senior Captains Rachelle Haas and Steph Guido are very hopeful for this season. The team had a resurgance in interest with more girls trying out than in past years. Steph Guido says "it is definitely a team effort out on the field and there are plenty of talented players." Some of these players returning to the varsity team are Katie Guido, Allison Shamon, Olivia Story, Jena O'Neil, Amanda Gotts, and Lexie Corso. The team's goal for this season is to qualify for the State tournament. With a new coach, Dave Tullgren, there have been a lot of changes made to the team already. The girls are very excited and optimistic and say that they are looking forward to their upcoming season. They hope to have fun while striving for a better record than they had last year.

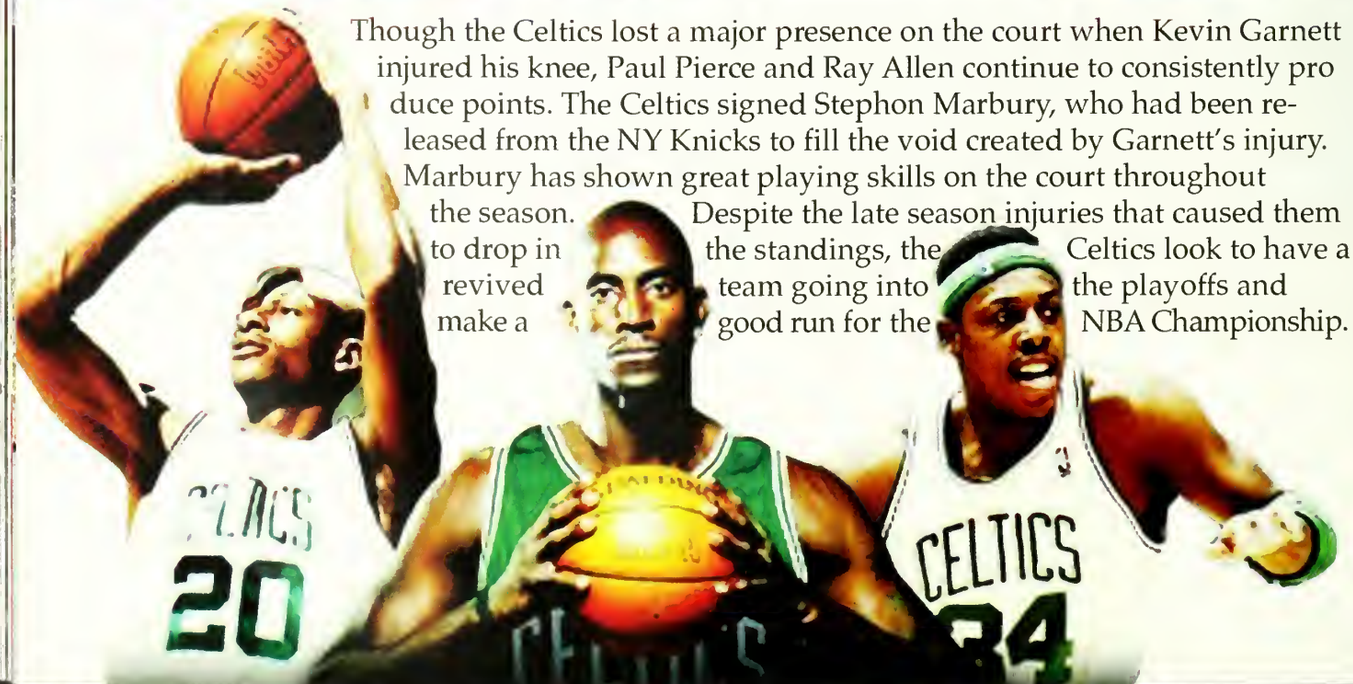
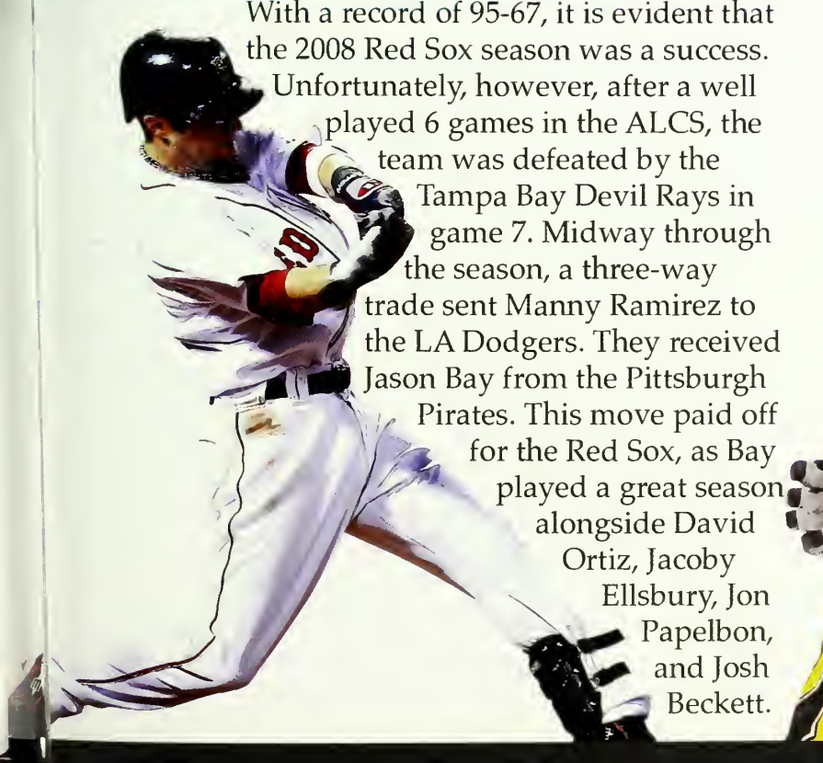
SPORTS TODAY



Though the Celtics lost a major presence on the court when Kevin Garnett injured his knee, Paul Pierce and Ray Allen continue to consistently pro duce points. The Celtics signed Stephon Marbury, who had been released from the NY Knicks to fill the void created by Garnett's injury. Marbury has shown great playing skills on the court throughout the season. Despite the late season injuries that caused them to drop in the standings, the Celtics look to have a revived team going into the playoffs and make a good run for the NBA Championship.

After Tom Brady's left knee injury in the first quarter vs. the Chiefs, the Patriots feared a set back. However, as quarterback Matt Cassel stepped in, the team got back on it's feet and Cassel showed an outstanding performance despite the fact he hadn't started a game since high school. Aside from Brady's injuries that put out for the remainder of the season, the Pats came together and ended with a final record of 11-5, losing to the Miami Dolphins and missing the playoffs by a mere one game.

With a record of 95-67, it is evident that the 2008 Red Sox season was a success. Unfortunately, however, after a well played 6 games in the ALCS, the team was defeated by the Tampa Bay Devil Rays in game 7. Midway through the season, a three-way trade sent Manny Ramirez to the LA Dodgers. They received Jason Bay from the Pittsburgh Pirates. This move paid off for the Red Sox, as Bay played a great season alongside David Ortiz, Jacoby Ellsbury, Jon Papelbon, and Josh Beckett.



Captivating all international viewers of the 2008 summer Olympic games, Michael Phelps swam into the lives of each and every fan. Phelps won eight gold medals at the Beijing Olympics last summer, beating Mark Spitz's record of seven gold medals at the Munich Olympics in 1972. He now holds 14 career Olympic gold medals, the most of any Olympian. Overall, Phelps possesses 16 medals, six gold and two bronze at Athens, and eight gold medals at Beijing. His 16 overall medals places Phelps second only to Olympic gymnast Larissa Latynina, who holds the record with 18 medals. After a photograph of him smoking marijuana surfaced, Michael Phelps was suspended from competitive swimming for three months. Phelps admitted that his behavior was "regrettable and demonstrated bad judgement", and promised his fans that it wouldn't happen again.

At press time, the Boston Bruins were in first place in the Northeast division of the Eastern Conference of the NHL, with Montreal a close second. League leaders Tim Thomas (goaltender), and Blake Wheeler (right wing), have contributed significantly to the success of the team thus far this season.

Spirit Day

Pep Rally November 27, 2008

A Day at the Races

The annual Spirit Day celebration that occurs on the half day before Thanksgiving break offers the perfect opportunity for some healthy competition between Masco's students and faculty. Knowing that they only have one period of classes, students can't help but lose their concentration awaiting the year's most exciting pep rally, only 45 minutes away. This year the seniors proved victorious, successfully winning both relay races (between the opposing grades and the teachers) and both doughnut-eating contests. One of the most popular and competitive events of the day is the relay race, during which the teachers and students run across the length of the field house in unconventional ways.

These methods include piggy-back riding, wheelbarrowing, potato-sack racing, and attempting to change into various outfits after reaching the opposite end of the gym. The most memorable moment of the relay occurred during the piggyback lap, when Ms. DeMatteis did a face plant after buckling under the weight of her partner. An unnamed source assured us that Ms. DeMatteis has begun lifting weights in preparation for next year's competition.

However, her wipeout was not the only excitement of the day. Rowdy underclassmen cheated during Masco's signature Swivel Chair Basketball tournament, giving the seniors a taste of their own medicine. Players of all grades left their chairs to catch or dribble the ball; a clear violation of the game-les which state that only seniors are allowed to cheat. The chaos on the court ted wild pandemonium that reverberated throughout the field house. Within nds, the underclassmen had successfully turned a rigged game into an out-of-rol battle. In the opinion of the senior class, this display of unapologetic cheating ld have garnered an immediate senior victory. Unfortunately, the inistration did not agree.

though the seniors didn't pull out a victory in the basketball game, their overall was secured by their successes in the Tug-O-War and the doughnut-eating petition. During this new food event, Seniors Dan McQueen and Pat Matvichuk, i the help of Mike Hutchinson), each played vital roles in cinching the senior The seniors brimmed with pride after their first place victory was announced, e the junior class came in second. The sophomores on the other hand, were ped of all dignity when they lost their traditional third place position to the men, out of accordance with Masco tradition - freshmen always come in last.

th the cheerleading team and the Step Team "Retro Phresh" performed. Their parances pumped up the crowd, filling the field house with a united sense of school spirit in anticipation of the Thanksgiving Day football game. Senior football Captains Steve Sylvia and Clay Cleveland, each sporting their white team uniform and matching the rest of the team, announced their successful season and encouraged their peers to attend the biggest game of the season the following day against North Andover, Masco's biggest rival.

ABC Board

The ABC program (A Better Chance) provides inner city students with the opportunity to obtain a better education at Masconomet than they would have otherwise recieved. High school boys move to the ABC house in Topsfield from grades 9-12 during the school year.

To help keep this organization running, the Board meets once a month to organize fundraisers such as the ABC auction and the ABC fair. Many of these students parents are involved in this great program as well, and with their help combined lets this progrgam succeed. A little known fact is that our very own president, Barack Obama, went through the ABC program as well.

In Model UN, student delegates step into the shoes of ambassadors from UN member states to debate current issues on the organization's vast agenda. Students prepare draft resolutions, plot strategy, negotiate with supporters and adversaries, resolve conflicts, and navigate the UN's rules of procedure. This year, they participated in two conferences. At the Harvard Model UN conference in Boston they represented Zimbabwe and North Korea while at the National High School Model UN in NYC they represented Romania and Azerbaijan.

Dear Ashley,
It seems like just yesterday you were this little girl, twirling around in her tutu! We have been so blessed each day by your special spirit, talent, strength and beauty. I wish for just one moment that you could see yourself through our eyes. As you start your new journey into college, always remember to follow your dreams, reach for every star and never stop believing in yourself. Life's journey is never an easy one but if you stay true to yourself, follow your heart and always dance like no one is watching, your life will be filled with much happiness, laughter and love. We are your greatest fans and our unconditional love and faith in you will always be with you, no matter where you go.

Congratulations on your graduation -
We are so very proud of you!
Love, Mom, Dad, Nikki, Robert & Chase

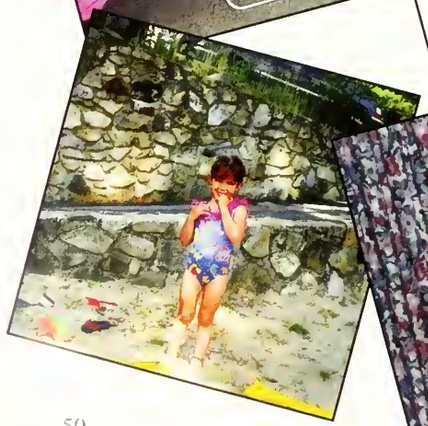
Jillian Deborah Gennaco



Dear Jillian,
The day has come and our little girl is graduating from high school. It's impossible to express in words how much joy you bring to our lives each and every day, but hopefully all the smiles and hugs we continually give you lets you know just how much you are loved. You've grown into a truly unique and special person and we could not be more proud of you. Continue to learn from your mistakes, follow your heart, grow in your faith, know you are never alone, and that there is a solution to every challenge. Attitude is a choice, choose a positive one. Continue to surround yourself with positive friends who put safety above all. We are so thankful for your commitment to family and continue to wonder how your enormous heart fits in such a petite body. We want you to look ahead with excitement and know we are always behind you! You are truly a blessing and we love you so much. Congrats and God Bless You! Love, Dad, Mom, Patrick (and Jenny)

You can chase a dream, that seems so out of reach, and you know it might never come your way. Dream it anyway.

Nicholas Bassett

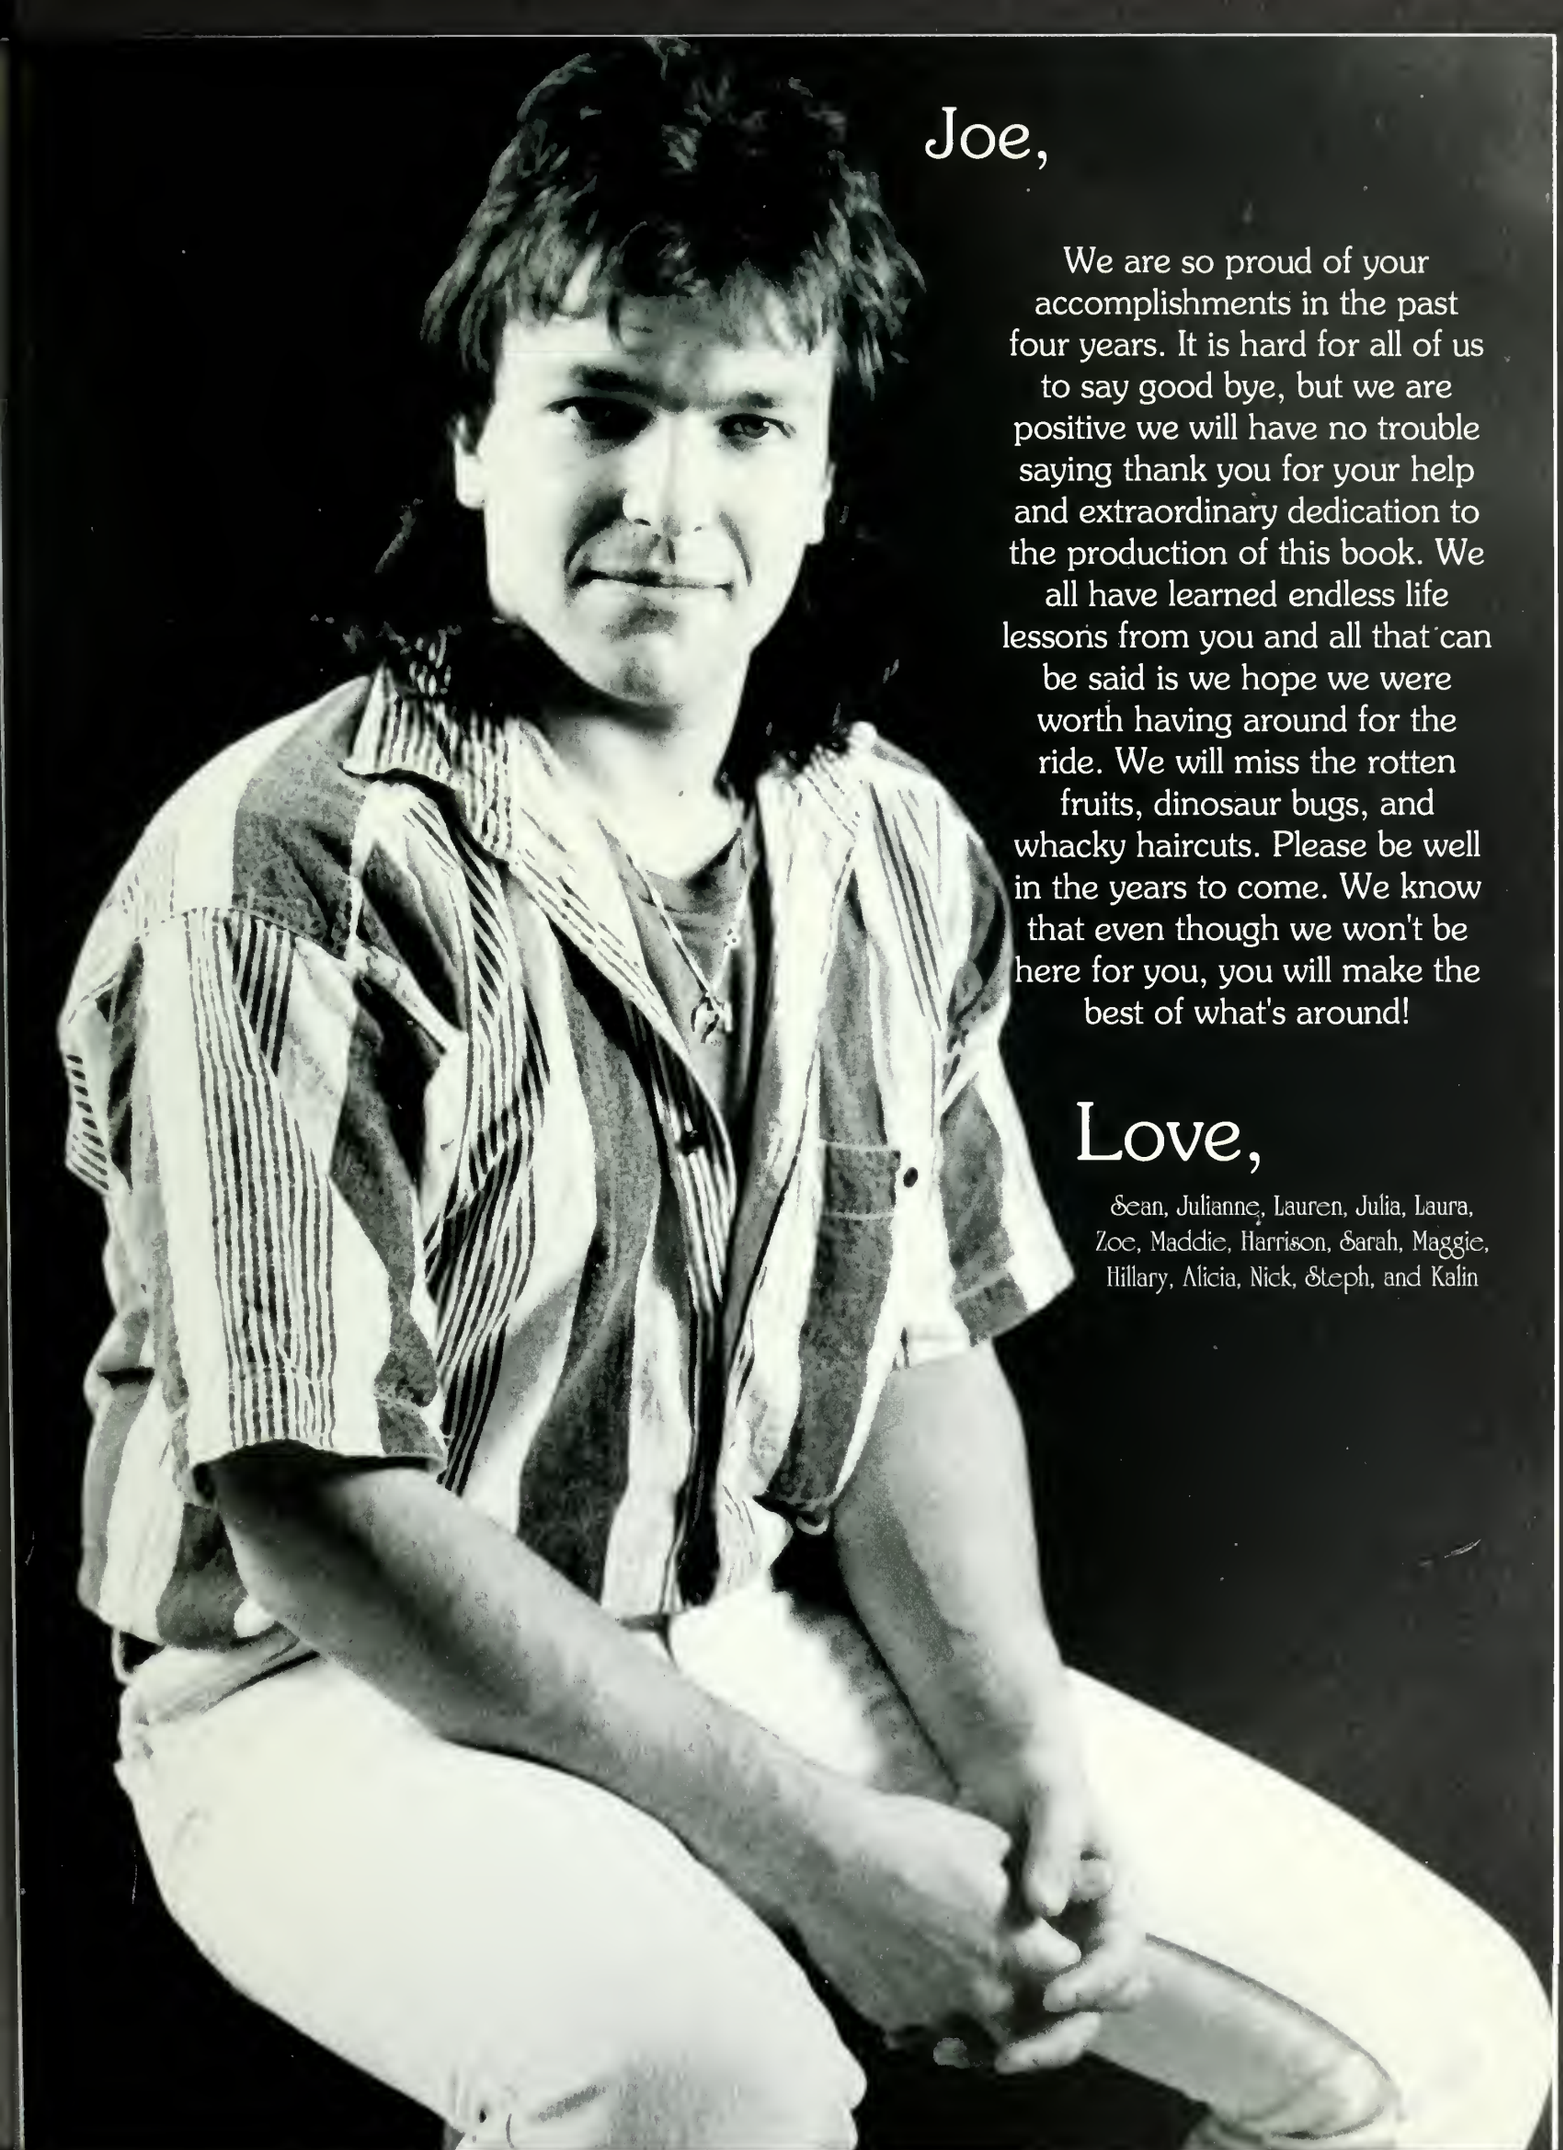
Nick,

You are a wonderful, bright young man who always makes us laugh whether you're belly dancing, showing us your "Japanese flag" or embarrassing Tera. We are so proud of you and wish you the best of luck in college and forever after that. You can do anything, Nick- whatever you set your mind to. Don't forget your friends and family along the way.
We love you.

Mom, Dad, Alex and Sparky

Congratulations Melanie! You make us so proud! We Love You so very much and we're going to miss you more than you'll ever know when you go to college. You make us laugh every day! When you were born it was like Christmas – You were like a gift to us and that hasn't changed. You have taught us so much, and we are still learning from you. You aren't like anyone else! Stay the way you are because the way you are is you. You've become an Amazing woman and We Love You more than anything!

Always and Forever, Mom, Dad and Nicole



Joe,

We are so proud of your accomplishments in the past four years. It is hard for all of us to say good bye, but we are positive we will have no trouble saying thank you for your help and extraordinary dedication to the production of this book. We all have learned endless life lessons from you and all that can be said is we hope we were worth having around for the ride. We will miss the rotten fruits, dinosaur bugs, and whacky haircuts. Please be well in the years to come. We know that even though we won't be here for you, you will make the best of what's around!

Love,
